Test: invitations with a note and without

Sales Navigator lets us add a short personal note to each invitation. We are testing if it helps.

Early read, invitations still open

So far the note makes no clear difference. The noted invitations went to CEOs, who accept a little less often than HR leaders. We will have a clear answer once 50 noted invitations are a week old.

Acceptance rate. The thin lines show the likely range, which is wide while the groups are small.

5

Project days

Live since 8 September.

The days missed during Saif's hospital stay are added to the end of the pilot, so you get the full service.

Comments	Rebuilt. A written guide to Costi's voice, a full read of each prospect, and a separate review of every comment, note and message.
Sales Navigator	Working again. Invitations can now carry a short personal note, which we are testing in section 4.

Now	Call with Mohammad Al Kitali, e&. From you: a yes, and two or three times that suit you.
Now	Sherine Elzobeir, Tamara. Her audit answers come to you, so you can follow up.
This weekend	Email campaign starts as a second channel.
Ongoing	30+ invitations a day with a personal note, and every follow-up on time.
Next report	Fresh acceptance count and the first clear read of the note test.
